Program Outline & Participation Requirements of The Training Program on Program & Project Management [PPTP]

13 January – 26 January 2027

The Association for Overseas Technical Cooperation and Sustainable Partnerships [AOTS]

1. BACKGROUND OF THE PROGRAMS:

The Association for Overseas Technical Cooperation and Sustainable Partnerships (AOTS) is an organization for human resources development mainly in overseas countries to promote technical cooperation through training, experts dispatch and other programs. Through those programs, we aim at contributing to the mutual economic growth of developing countries and Japan as well as enhancing mutually beneficial relations among those countries.

AOTS was established in 1959 with the support of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry (which is the present Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry: METI) as Japan's first technical cooperation organization on a private sector basis. More than 200,000 individuals from 198 countries and regions have undergone our training in Japan, while the cumulative attendance at our overseas programs till the end of fiscal 2024 exceeded 240,000.

AOTS organizes and develops a various range of training courses based on requests from returning participants and industry in developing countries.

The Training Program on Program & Project Management* (PPTP) is one of such management training programs conducted by AOTS organized in order to impart the system and method of program and project management based on the P2M^{®} Guidebook of Japan to training program participants.

* Program & Project Management: Program management is a set of processes such as conception, basic planning and implementation management of a program that is positioned as a management unit to realize an organization's strategy for business expansion, growth and adaptation to changing external environment such as emerging green economy, digital transformation (DX), response to technology disruption, and Society 5.0 proposed by Japanese Government, and is a cluster of component projects to deliver the strategy.

Project management is a set of planning and management processes for creating unique, new value in a project context (mission driven, time, resources and budget constrained) for land and social infrastructure, oil and gas plants, energy transition, production facilities, ICT systems, new product development, sustainability in responding to climate changes and organizational transformation, self or market-mandated. A project can be initiated on a stand-alone basis (discrete projects) or as an integral part of a program.

 P2M : P2M is the "Guidebook of Program & Project Management for Enterprise Innovation" originally published by the Engineering Advancement Association of Japan in 2001 after three years of research commissioned by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry of Japan (METI), and has been owned and developed by Project Management Association of Japan (PMAJ) as a vehicle to support Japanese enterprises, organizations, and the government agencies in enhancing their competitiveness through innovation and serves as a program management and project management integrated methodology that considers not only how to deliver one project successful by meeting the quality, budget and delivery time requirements, but also is an edifice of knowledge that integrates a program consisting of plural projects under a common program mission, for conceiving and delivering innovation, high value added and sustainability by intellectually combining a variety of management disciplines as well as strength of the Japanese industry, and helping pursue total optimization from higher and wider perspectives.

P2M has, in addition to its base Japanese Edition, its English Edition, Russian Edition and Ukrainian Edition and has been taught or practiced in some 25 countries including France, Ukraine, Russia, the Philippines, Senegal, Bangladesh and Mexico.

5. OUTLINE OF THE PROGRAM:

OBJECTIVES

This training program is designed for the participants to (1) acquire the fundamental methods and basic application skills of project management used to manage a single (discrete) project, (2) familiarize themselves with “agile project management method”, an emerging variation of project management which is suited to software development, development of a highly innovative product or service, and stepwise corporate innovation where no model or prototype exists, hence, it is difficult to define what to make from the beginning, (3) learn the concept of program management which serves as corporation’s essential management unit to link a pillar of corporate strategy to front-line projects to deliver on strategies, and is gaining increasingly important roles for higher business competitiveness, innovation in a variety of sectors, and sustainability in global competition, and (4) enable the participants to obtain deeper understanding of roles of project managers and program managers in the contemporary fast moving economy and industry and the society.

The participants are provided step-by-step opportunities to learn how to apply program management and project management in the order of 1) program value identification and program development, 2) well informed project objectives setting, 3) efficient project planning and management, and 4) project objectives management on the project’s scope, delivery schedule, quality requirements, risk and project organization.

KEY BENEFITS & CONTENTS

Pre-Step: Pre-study Requirements in the Application Sheet

The Participant is required to enter responses to the questions and pre-study guideline laid out in the Pre-Training Report, which will be reflected in the lecturers’ training sessions, utilized during the discussions and group workshops of the Training Program. The pre-study requirements include, in addition to the corporate profile, business operations characteristics and project management environment of applicant’s firm.

Step 1: Program Management

Learn the concept of Program Management through lectures, discussions and two company/organization visits to observe program management applications, which is a methodology for the conception, formulation, design & structuring, implementation management (project management of the program’s component projects), and innovative product servicing, of a program, as an organizational vehicle to realize an organization’s strategy, formed into a cluster of component projects. In this concept, participants would not only study how to translate a pillar (discrete component) of a corporation’s strategy into a program then being decomposed into projects, but also challenge a program to build a new business model such as business expansion into a new business domain; enhancing sustainability of the company operations, industry and society; developing a green industry and beyond; promoting energy transition; and utilization of digital transformation potential, circular and sharing economy models.

Step 2: Project Management

Project management applies to both a component project of a program explained in Step 1 and to stand-alone projects.

The participants learn the terms, knowledge areas and the integration framework (the methods) of Project Management and its basic application skills which will become the common language in executing and managing projects. In doing so, the participants will gradually form a method of how to apply project management knowledge and skill to enterprise and industry objectives.

Also, learn agile project management useful for digital transformation (DX) applications and development of highly innovative products.

Step 3: Summary: Forming Comprehensive Professional P2M Knowledge and Application Skills

The Course ensures, by way of Project-based Learning (PBL), that the participants understand what they have learned in the training program by way of a series of hands-on case exercises provided in most sessions, three half-day corporate application case studies, one half-day business exchange meeting with Japanese companies, and one full-day overarching workshop based on the respective group’s thematic initiatives. Participants recognize their own roles in carrying out or implementing Program & Project Management.

This training program is designed to learn the system and methods of program and project management based on P2M.

By attending this program, participants will be able to have a more concrete image of their own roles as the persons responsible for project management and in the future as a program manager for innovation, as well as to acquire the systematic knowledge covered by P2M. Those participants who have successfully completed the training program and have been conferred AOTS's official certificate, will also be awarded the International P2M Practitioner (iP2M) credential by Project Management Association of Japan.

Further, by learning the P2M-based program and project management and by having a close look at actual examples of its application in Japanese corporations, participants will have a chance to know the efforts taken by the Japanese corporations, and can extend their knowledge, which will become the basis by which they facilitate effective and efficient communications in various business environments with Japanese industries after returning to home country.

The course will usually consist of three hours in the morning and three hours in the afternoon. Please see the Tentative Schedule for further details.

For reference, the course satisfaction ratings of PPTP 2025 by the Participants stands at 4.9/5.0, and average score of totally 18 sessions (half day) at 4.9 (the median scores are all 5). The same lecturers plus two more high-rate instructors at AOTS training will teach in PPTP 2026.
